County Government A HOME FOR BUSINESS

With a business climate that has fostered quality development, Seminole County has become home to a plethora of equally dynamic corporations.

Industry growth in Seminole has taken several forms. Most notable is the establishment of corporate headquarters, such as American Automobile Association (AAA), Mitsubishi Hitachi Power Systems, Scholastic Book Fairs and Sears Home Improvement Products, as well as the emergence of many high-tech companies, including CuraScript, NCR, Faro Technologies, Deloitte IT Consulting and Convergys. Ongoing expansion at the Orlando Sanford International Airport (SFB) has helped SFB become the fifth most active international airport in Florida and the 32nd most active in the United States.

Seminole County has prepared for growth with everything from a new expressway to pre-approved development sites, specialized job training and infrastructure incentives. The county's public-school system is rated among the highest in the state, and the median household effective buying income is the highest in the region.

A diverse group of seven cities comprises the County: Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Lake Mary, Longwood, Oviedo, Sanford, and Winter Springs. Each has its own character and unique appeal; the municipalities of Oviedo and Winter Springs consistently rank as best places to live by CNN Money Magazine. A commitment to economic growth mixed with an unswerving devotion to maintaining the local lifestyle as one of the nation's most desirable inform every decision made by the governments of Seminole County and its cities.

Seminole County Economic Development manages various business development incentives in partnership with Seminole's constituent cities, the Orlando Economic Partnership, and the State of Florida, including the Jobs Growth Incentive Fund (JGI), and the State of Florida Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund (QTI).
